

Introducing Your Home Energy Report

An energy report will be appearing in your mailbox soon. This report will include personalized information to help you save energy and reduce your electric bill – putting more cash in your pocket.

Your reports will compare your current energy use to approximately 100 nearby, occupied homes with similar characteristics, such as square footage and fuel types. These homes represent your neighbors, but do not necessarily include the homes on your block. These comparisons will help you better understand how you use energy – plus, you'll receive personalized energy saving tips.

Tools You Can Use

To make your custom analysis and advice even better, you can update the information about your home at www.shakopeeutilities.com/energyreports. To login, simply enter your SPU account number, as it appears on your Home Energy Report. You can also create a personal energy savings plan, sign up to receive email reports, and more.
